The crystal I have chosen for the month of September is Blue lace agate

A little history: this crystal was worn in ancient times, as a truth amulet to make sure that only the words that were spoken was pure.

In Rome if worn on a finger on the left hand ensured the favor of the vegetative deities who would cause the earth to be fruitful.

Color: pale blue with white or darker blue lines.

Appearance: banded, often small and tumbled

Rarity: readily available

Source: united States, India, morocco, Czech, republic, Brazil, and Africa.

A little note: this is a wonderful healing stone. Its soft energy is cooling and calming and brings peace of mind.

A great help for parents: when placed with a flaming light blue candle calms the psychic atmosphere and reduces household or family quarrels.

This is a great stone for dissolving mental stress and for calming the nervous system

HINT: the effects of this stone can be felt immediately.

Chakra: the blue lace agate clears the throat chakra so that the highest spiritual truths can be reached. It is very effective for activating and healing the throat this allowing free expression of thoughts and feelings.

Spiritual: it links thoughts to the spiritual vibration and brings in deep peace with in.

Healing: it neutralizes anger, infection, inflammation and fevers. This crystal treats arthritis and bone problems, it also relieves shoulder and neck issues.

Psychologically: the blue lace agate dissolves the old pattern of repression and encourages a new mode of expression

A little note: this stone will help you adjust when one situation is finished and another is about to begin.

“The blue lace agate will help you to express your views lovingly”

Cleansing/purifying: it is important to clean this stone regularly after prolonged uses.

Positions: it is good to wear on one's throat. Also, keep one on the dashboard of your vehicle because it can reduce tension and ensure you in keeping your emotions under control

Enhancers: gives strength and courage, it helps improve ego and self-esteem, dissolves bitterness of the heart, helps release fears of rejection and repression. The blue lace agate is also good for gardening, grounding, balancing, happiness, love energy, and very proactive over its wearer.
