

The Star

This card is a look at the future. This does not predict the immediate future but it predicts hope and healing. This card suggest clarity and insight on a spiritual level, and unexpected help is coming so don't be surprised.

Apparently, even though I was looking to pull a card for the month, this card was pulled for me as well as others. I have been searching for myself spiritually and this month is going to be an interesting month. For myself, I am in the process of receiving my Level II attunements for Reiki. I feel that this card speaks to me in which once I receive my attunements, I will be more spiritually aware and ready to progress toward my true calling of healing.

For the months I feel: take a look around and see where you are at spiritually. Are you searching for yourself? Have you found yourself spiritually but are stuck in a rut? Take the time to meditate/ sit quietly and just breathe. Just sit quietly and let spirit speak to you. Also, keep an eye out for help in unexpected places. You may have a situation that you may consider bad, but remember everything happens for a reason so look at the best out of it. Look at the signs this month no matter how slight.
